Mrs. Howe's Vision.

Julia Ward Howe, one of America's sweetest singers, recently celebrated her 90th birthday. Mrs. Howe recently had a vision which she described in this way:

"One night recently, I experienced a sudden awakening. I had a vision of a new era which is to dawn for mankind and in which men and women are battling equally, unitedly, for the uplifting and emancipation of the race from evil.

"I saw men and women of every clime working like bees to unwrap the evils of society and to discover the whole web of vice and misery, and to apply the remedies and also to find the influences that should best counteract evil and its attending suffering.

"There seemed to be a new, a wondrous, ever-permeating light, the glory of which I can not attempt to put in human words—the light of new-born hope and sympathy blazing. The source of his light was human endeavor—immortal purpose of countless thousands of men and women, who were equally doing their part in the world.

"I saw the men and women, standing side by side, shoulder to shoulder, a common, lofty and indomitable purpose lighting every face with a glory not of this earth. All were advancing with one end in view, one foe to trample, one everlasting god to gain.

"And then I saw the victory. All of evil was gone from the earth. Misery was blotted out. Mankind was emancipated and ready to march forward in a new era of human understanding, all-encompassing sympathy and ever-present help. The era of perfect love, of peace passing understanding."

There are many who are simple-hearted enough to believe that Mrs. Howe's vision described the world as it will become through the process of education. In the light of the moral awakening apparent on every hand, in the presence of the wealth of individual effort toward the world's betterment these simple-hearted folk feel that, in the very language of Howe's beautiful hymn:

"He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before his judgment seat;
Oh! be swift, my soul, to answer him!
Be jubilant, my feet!
Our God is marching on."

The Important Things.

Looking but six months ahead, and concerning himself only with material, Mr. Harriman truly says that the crops of 1909 are the important factor in prosperity. Stock gamblers and business men alike shrewdly look to nature's prodigal gifts to save them.

Yet in the long run the bounties of nature are not the essential foundation of a state. Greece built her time-defying monuments upon a bit of arid, sun-baked, rock-sown soil, most of whose famous rivers run dry every summer. Holland made the finest state in Europe, and still maintains a fine one, on a small area filched with infinite labor from the sea. Venice planted awash at high tide. The Scotch became a great people upon a soil with few advantages of climate. The Germans are making a splendid nation upon a not very fertile plain sloping toward the North Sea.

What have Brazil's or Siberia's natural riches done for them? What did Japan's until the new national spirit brought a mental awakening? For a hundred years the true contract between Canada and the United States has not been between natural advantages so much as between a land ruled stupidly under kings and one of freedom. And Canada is doing better of late, not because her resources are better known, but because stupidity and absolutism have been replaced by popular rule and a true national feeling.

The important things, the things that make a nation great, are the courage, the intelligence, the virtue of its people and the justice of its government. If monopoly be permitted to crush individual effort, if there is one law for the rich and another for the poor, in legal subtleties and resources of delay entangle the Square Deal, if Legislatures continually enact privileges for the few at the cost of the many, not all the bounties of nature, were they ten times multiplied, would save the Republic from disaster.

Chester Park.

The Games Committee of the National Turnfest, to be held at Cincinnati the week of June 21-27, has selected the lake at Chester Park as the swimming course for the races that are to be held on Friday afternoon June 25. In connection with this there is an interesting bit of history not generally known. It was at Chester Park, when the latter was a trotting track that the famous mare, Maud S., was trained before starting upon the series of races and exhibitions that made her the most talked of animal in the world. In later years the track was turned into a bicycle course. This was during the wheel craze of 15 years ago. Many world's records were made and broken at that time. When the bicycling faded out Chester became a summer resort. The bicycle track, the most expensive ever constructed in the world, became the bed of an artificial lake. It is in this lake that the swimming contests of the turners will be held.

Capt. Sharp Likes His Office.

Capt. Steve G. Sharp, United States Marshal for the Eastern district of Kentucky, is a candidate for re-appointment and was in Lexington yesterday conferring with political friends in the interest of his candidacy. Capt. Sharp was one of the most dashing members of Gen. John H. Morgan's command in the Confederate army and after the war was elected sheriff and held other offices in Lexington and Fayette, and was State Treasurer under a Democratic administration at Frankfort. With the division of the Democrats on the silver issue Capt. Sharp took the gold-side and never returned to the Democratic organization. He was appointed Marshal by President McKinley and has held the position ever since. He will have a hot fight for re-appointment, among the candidates being Capt. J. W. Throckmorton, of Lexington, who, it is said, is backed by Senator Bradley.

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, the reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out" run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

A Trifle Uncertain.
Little Jean's parents were enthusiastic bridge-players, and Jean was more or less familiar with the sight of cards. At Sunday school one day the teacher had been giving a talk on David. Finally she held up a little colored print of David dressed in royal robes, and asked: "What child can tell me who this is?" Out of the silence piped little Jean's voice: "I think it's a king, but it may be a jack!"

Luxuries.
Luxuries are those possessions which are enjoyed chiefly and almost solely because other people do not have them. All other possessions are necessities. If every one were a Standard Oil magnate, it would be an insufferable bore, and it is getting to be almost that anyway. Luxuries do not connote comfort. On the contrary, they connote litter, indigestion, gout and lassitude. Comfort comes only from necessities.—Life.
